The enriching experience of these past 10 tables incited us to review the concept and format. From February 2018 they are built around one or a few outsiders, who kick off the debate based on a brief functional presentation. A concrete and well-defined topic should produce a usable output adding to our thinking and leading to further concrete activities.

Though remaining within the overall legacy of the Club of Rome they will largely relate to the goals and targets of Agenda 2030.

Time for meeting must allow members and guests to easily participate considering their professional activities. Therefore, the tables will still take place midday, from 12:00 to 14:00, with a sandwich lunch. They should be a welcome break on a working day.

Number of participants - drawn from EU officials, business leaders, academics and CoR-EU members - never exceed 12 to 15 to ensure effective interactivity and dialogue.

In addition to these midday Conversation tables there will be more in-depth meetings of a different format: half day meetings starting or ending with a convivial meal, but with the same concept of cross fertilization between members and authoritative outsiders.
